Temporary change to trading hours and designated settlement periods due to US Daylight Saving Time in 2010 and notification of resulting changes to the UK or US expiry times of specific Contracts

The purpose of this circular is to remind Members of the contents of circular 10/013 dated 26 February 2010 and to notify Members of the resulting changes to the UK or US expiry times of specific contracts.

The Circular advised Members that the period of Daylight Saving Time ("DST") in the U.S will be different to British Summertime ("BST"). As a consequence, the Exchange is making temporary changes to the trading hours and designated settlement periods of some of its Contracts for the period between the end of BST and the end of DST.

The temporary changes set out below will therefore apply during the period of Sunday 31 October 2010 to Friday 5 November 2010 (inclusive). After this period the trading hours and designated settlement periods will revert to the normal times.
