VA FUTURES MARKET DISRUPTION TRADING DAY

Thursday, January 9, 2025, will be treated as a market disruption trading day for VA futures.

The result of treating Thursday, January 9, 2025, as a market disruption trading day for VA futures will be zero accrued variance for VA futures on January 9, 2025. The number of daily returns for each VA futures contract will remain unchanged.

The queuing periods and order submission time frames following the Day of Mourning and the treatment of block trade and exchange of contract for related position (ECRP) transaction submissions during the Day of Mourning will function as they do in connection with a CFE holiday.
