Subject:	Introduction of multi-currency trading for ETFs/ETSFs and adjustment of price step for ETFs in JPY

Dear Sir or Madam,

The purpose of this message is to inform you about changes concerning the SIX Swiss Exchange trading segments Exchange Traded Funds (ETF) and Exchange Traded Structured Funds (ETSF).

Multi-currency trading

Starting on 1 June 2010, providers of ETFs and ETSFs will have the possibility to list their products in multiple trading currencies on SIX Swiss Exchange.

Interested providers can specify additional trading currencies in their listing application to SIX Exchange Regulation for products to be newly listed.

A written request must be submitted to SIX Exchange Regulation for approval to trade products that are already listed in their primary currency in additional currencies. The request must include evidence that the relevant governing body has expressly agreed to the start of trading in an additional currency. Furthermore, an official notice and an advertisement must be published, and market making for the additional trading currency must be assured.

The usual listing deadlines apply to the listing of products in additional trading currencies.

Adjustment of price step for ETFs traded in JPY

The price step for the Exchange Traded Funds listed below, which are traded in Japanese Yen (JPY), will be changed as of 1 June 2010 from currently 0.01 to 1 regardless of the market price:

During the morning «snapshot» on 1 June 2010, the Exchange will delete all good-till-date orders that do not indicate a valid price step. It will be in the responsibility of the participant to re-enter the corresponding orders prior to the start of trading on 1 June 2010.

Wherever necessary, the Exchange will adjust the reference prices to reflect the newly valid price step. As a part of this, the reference prices will be rounded to the closest valid price step.

All information on the valid trading parameters can be found in Annex G to Directive 3: Trading and in the Product Guide – Fund Market, which will be amended accordingly as of 1 June 2010.

Please contact «Product Sales ETFs & Other Financial Products» if you have any further questions.
